

British League Performances in 2007

We have generally assumed that a good performance in the Premiership can be achieved with a squad of 50 plus first team athletes. Well this year we met this criteria but still only narrowly avoided relegation to Division 1. The table below shows the problem. For the first time ever not one athlete competed in all four matches due to a wholly unusual combination of factors, including injuries and other competing events involving domestic competitions and International Championships. This was in great contrast to last year when Belgrave won the Premiership using only 48 athletes but of those 8 competed in all 4 matches.
